

User Stories

The format of each user story will be the following:

1. Title of user story
  - a. Describe the story
  - b. How long to develop: short, normal, long
  - c. How important: low, mid, high

Table of contents:

Title of user story

A user enter tasks

A user can view tasks

A user can delete tasks

A user has to log into system

Different users on the system

A user can sort their tasks

User can tag their tasks by date or priority

1. A user enter tasks

- a. A user will type in some type of task into the system. The system will then save this task somewhere so when the user checks back on it, its still there
- b. medium
- c. High

2. A user can view tasks

- a. A user should be able to view the tasks in the system. When view tasks, they should see all aspects of the task they created
- b. short
- c. High

3. A user can delete tasks

- a. A user should be able to delete any one of their task from the system. They should allow deleting multiple tasks at one. Also, should be prompted when delete if it is ok.
- b. Medium
- c. High

4. A user has to log into system

- a. A user needs to log into the system before they are allowed to do any actions on the system.
- b. Long
- c. Normal

5. Different users on the system

- a. There are different user on the system. Each user has its own set of tasks that the system keep track of. Need to allow the creation of new users
- b. Long
- c. Low

6. A user can sort their tasks

- a. When a user looks at their tasks, they should be able to view in a few different orders. By name, data made, etc.
- b. Medium
- c. Normal

7. User can tag their tasks by date or priority

- a. The user should be able to add tags to each task, such as due date or priority
- b. How long to develop: normal

c. How important: mid